Twilight Map

The Twilight Map is unlocked after completing Master Quest Map A-1 on the 3DS or after completing The Armies of Ruin on NINTENDO SWITCH. This map brings its own unique assortment of Item Cards as well as a few new wrinkles, all of which are covered below.

Many tiles are covered in twilight. Unless removed by a Tears of Light Item Card, these maps will have special Twilight Rules that must be followed, similar to Master Quest rules and Great Sea rules. In addition, the enemy movements on the minimap will be hidden, making the stages more difficult. If you manage to remove all twilight from the map, you can then earn a Tears of Twilight Item Card which can be used on any square to return all of the twilight to the map.

Twilight Rule	Description
No Special Attacks!	Defeating enemies will not fill the Special Attack gauge, and no Force Fragments will appear.
No Focus Spirit!	Magic Jars will not appear, so you will be unable to fill your Magic gauge.
No Item Attacks!	You cannot attack using bombs, the bow and arrows, Hookshot, boomerang, or hammer.

There are also twilight portals throughout the map. These can be seen as red marks on the map. Completing a stage with a twilight portal will change the portal to green. At this point, you can use an Ooccoo Item Card to warp to a linked portal on the map. These links will be covered in the guide.

As is always the case, the difficulty increases as follows: Black (starting area) -> Green -> Yellow -> Purple -> Orange -> Blue -> Red.

Starting square: O-6

Final Boss square: E-5
